

Hi first name ,

Briefly, we're having a nursing leadership roundtable conversation as a follow-up to our series around burnout.

The team of nurses from Resilient Seven will share some of the programs, interventions, and methods used to build resilience, offer support, and empower nurses to mitigate burnout while addressing ongoing moral injury in the nursing profession.

Some topics of conversation will include:

- Personal perspectives on moral injury and burnout in nursing
- Exploring root causes of burnout and moral injury
- What needs to change for nurses to enjoy their profession again
- What is the purposeful sequence to achieve resiliency

You're welcome to share it with your staff as well.

Warmest regards,

Jill
